ABOUT US

Proximity Costa Rica means Nearshore easy. We are a technology services company that provides software development, testing and maintenance services to clients based throughout the US in a near-shore model.

Proximity provides best-in-class, English speaking engineers who bring both domain expertise and customer-facing experience in Desktop Applications, Web Applications, Service Oriented Architecture, Software as a Service and Cloud Computing and Mobile Development. The Software Development Life Cycle is managed using different frameworks and best practices to assure quality, efficiency and transparency.

Whether clients need to improve the performance, functionality or effectiveness of their existing applications; build a new solution from scratch; or port their applications and functionality to run smoothly on mobile devices, Proximity has the expertise.

OUR OFFER

With ~100 engineers capable of developing and delivering custom enterprise level software applications, mobile solutions, IoT applicatiuonas and QA services. ProximityCR can provide the outsourced services needed to augment skill sets and build out development teams.

CLIENTS

Our main focus is the US Market since 2008. Proximity works with US and Canadian based clients, in different industries such as Healthcare, Finance, Transportation, Automotive and others.
